

T STUDENT ENGAGEMENT
get connected. get involved.

June 10, 2025

To whom it may concern,

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Enzo Canali in his application for a role on your team! Enzo is one of the hardest working and most dedicated students I have ever had the chance to work with, making him an extremely positive asset to any team.

I have watched Enzo thrive over the past two years while he serves as a member of the Entertainment Committee of the Campus Events Board (CEB). CEB provides programming of varying scales to the entire student body through a diverse range of events. The organization also plays a significant role in providing a space for community for students across campus. In my role as an advisor to CEB and the Entertainment Committee, I have the opportunity to support and advise Enzo in his role. Within Enzo's role he continuously functions as a highly organized, motivated, and determined student leader to ensure each and every event of the committee is executed to our high standard.

Along with serving as an advisor to Enzo in his role, I have the privilege of watching him thrive as a student. He maintains an extremely high academic standard for himself while balancing his numerous responsibilities. Enzo is often mentioned in discussions around model student leaders within our office and across campus. Consistently he is regarded to be extremely reliable, have exceptional communication skills, and is adaptable to change.

Enzo is someone that I believe can and will make a difference in the world. Considering his commitment to his studies, involvement in CEB, experiences across campus, and overall care for people, I believe Enzo would be an exceptional addition to your team.

If there are any questions or you would like to discuss my recommendation further, I would be happy to speak with you. Thank you very much for your consideration of this letter for Enzo's role on your team!

Sincerely,

Nicholas DeGuzman
